FGPC-F-P087	Item - Threshing crew A.L. King Note [General] : Fifth from the left is Sidney Arthur Barraclough and fourth from the right is Henry Sinclair Peterman. Scope and content: Eighteen man crew with one boy in a field standing in front of a Minneapolis tractor and threshing machine. Conditions governing use: By permission of archive.	[ca. 1914]	1 photograph; b&w; 17.5 x 12.5 cm
FGPC-FH-P088	Item - Harvest with a horse drawn binder Note [General] : The binder cuts the grain and ties it in bundles. The bundles have to be set upright to dry out and finish ripening in stooks which was hand labour. Scope and content: Four horses drawing a 7 foot cut binder. Conditions governing use: By permission of archive.	[ca. 1940]	1 photograph; b&w; 17.5 x 12.5 cm
FGPC-F-P089	Item - Grain Cleaner Note [General] : Writing on reverse " W. McIver, Fanning Mill, 1934". Scope and content: A Fosston Automatic grain cleaner used to clean the seed by removing small kernels, weed seeds, chaff, etc. It was run by an IHC pump engine but was also often turned by hand. Conditions governing use: By permission of archive.	[ca. 1920]	1 photograph; b&w; 17.5 x 12.5 cm
FGPC-F-P090	Item - Combining Note [General] : The combine was possible a model H6 21. The crop may not ripen evenly to permit straight combining. Here it is swathed and laid out in rows, after it is properly dried a combine pick up is used to pick up and thresh it. Scope and content: Harvesting with a self propelled "Massey Harris" combine loading into a 1946 Ford truck. Conditions governing use: By permission of archive.	[ca. 1948]	1 photograph; b&w; 17.5 x 12.5 cm
FGPC-FH-P091	Item - Ahrens hauling grain with mules and horses Note [General] : Two horses and six mules hauling grain to Rosetown with tandem tanks which held about 120 bushels of grain each. The distance to town was about twelve miles and the size of the Ahrens farm in the Camberley district was 2 3/4 sections (2760 acres). It was unusual to use mules for farm work. Scope and content:	[ca. 1929]	1 photograph; b&w; 17.5 x 12.5 cm

FGPC-FH-P100	Item - Hauling grain with horses [ca. 1920] Note [General] : The horses are a well matched team and seem to be wearing show harness. This team has six horses in it with the usual team consisting of four horses. Note the extended sides on the wagon box which would make the capacity of the wagon be about 100 bushels. Scope and content: A six horse team with two drivers pulling a straight sided grain wagon Conditions governing use: By permission of archive.		1 photograph; b&w; 17.5 x 12.5 cm 1 negative; 5.5 x 5.2 cm
FGPC-F-P101	Item - Harvesting with an early combine [ca. 1929] Note [General] : McCormick Deering tractor and combine from the Spence outfit was one of the first combines in the district. Reg Conlin and Holes of the Eagle are seen sitting on the combine. Scope and content: A McCormick Deering tractor pulling an early combine. Six men are in the picture. Conditions governing use: By permission of archive.		1 photograph; b&w; 17.5 x 12.5 cm 1 negative; 5.5 x 5.2 cm
FGPC-F-P102	Item - Threshing with steam engine power [ca.1910] Note [General] : Steam powered engine (Probably burned straw) with water tank and pump on top as steam engines used a large amount of water. Note horses drawing grain wagons in the background and men standing on top of the mounds of stokes. Scope and content: Snow on the ground. Threshing crew with horse drawn wagons. Conditions governing use: By permission of archive.		1 photograph; b&w; 17.5 x 12.5 cm 1 negative; 5.5 x 5.2 cm
FGPC-F-P103	Item - Moving grain [ca. 1928] Note [General] : The grain was piled in the field probably due to a large harvest. The truck had been fitted with a box which was being loaded with a grain scoop which made for faster loading than by shovel. Scope and content: Truck with man using a grain scoop to load with. Conditions governing use: By permission of archive.		1 photograph; b&w; 17.5 x 12.5 cm 1 negative; 5.5 x 5.2 cm
FGPC-F-P104	Item - Harvest binder pulled by tractor [ca.1928]		1 photograph; b&w; 17.5 x 12.5 cm 1 negative; 5.5 x 5.2 cm

	Note [General] : The tractor pulled binder replaced a team of four horses. Some trouble was had steering the tractor and handling the binder controls, levers etc. at the same time. Scope and content: Late 1920's J.I. 	Note [General] : A 1925 Case engine was being used to power the threshing machine. Note the shape of the racks, this was made to accommodate a horse drawn stook loader in the field. Stooks or bundles were picked up and elevated into the rack by power rather than by a man with a fork. Scope and content: A crew on the Ken Hare farm threshing. Conditions governing use: By permission of archive.

FGPC-FH-P119	Item - Well drilling with horse power Note [General] : This method cut a three foot diameter hole and usually got water at about one hundred feet, it was otherwise considered a dry hole. Early settlers dug by hand about four feet in diameter to about one hundred feet. It was a very dangerous occupation. Scope and content: The Pete Carriere outfit drilling a water well. Conditions governing use: By permission of archive.	[ca. 1920]	1 photograph; b&w; 17.5 x 12.5 cm 1 negative; 5.5 x 5.2 cm
FGPC-FH-P120	Item - Threshing, steam engine water supply Note [General] : They used a lot of straw or fuel and water. Note the hand pump on the tank, both loading and unloading the water had to be hand pumped. Scope and content: Hauling water to keep a steam engine running. Conditions governing use: By permission of archive.	[ca. 1918]	1 photograph; b&w; 17.5 x 12.5 cm 1 negative; 5.5 x 5.2 cm
FGPC-FH-P121	Item - Farm horses, colt and mare Note [General] : A dugout was a man-made depression to catch water runoff from the winter and the spring and summer rains. Getting enough water was always a problem in this area. Scope and content: Mother and foal beside a dugout. Conditions governing use: By permission of archive.	[ca. 1920]	1 photograph; b&w; 17.5 x 12.5 cm 1 negative; 5.5 x 5.2 cm
FGPC-FH-P122	Item - Horse drawn stook loader Note [General] : Horse drawn stook loader and stook wagon. This method was quite a bit faster than a man loading stooks with a fork. Scope and content: Two horse drawn teams, one pulling a stook wagon and the other pulling a stook loader. Conditions governing use: By permission of archive.	[ca. 1925]	1 photograph; b&w; 17.5 x 12.5 cm 1 negative; 5.5 x 5.2 cm
FGPC-FH-P123	Item - Stooking, binder cuts and tied sheaves Note [General] : Sheaves were stoked in order to ripen and dry out the grain getting it ready for threshing. The stooks also shed the rain keeping the heads dry. Scope and content: Horse drawn binder cutting grain and laying tied bundles in rows.
